Welcome to the ICOS Science Conference 2024!

The ICOS Science Conference is a unique possibility for targeted marketing and customer interaction. The event brings together around 400 environmental and climate scientists from the top of their fields. This time, the ICOS Science Conference will be held in Versailles, France, from 10-12 September 2024.

ICOS, the Integrated Carbon Observation System, is a prominent European research infrastructure with a network of more than 170 atmosphere, ecosystem and ocean stations located in 16 countries. As a pillar of European greenhouse gas measurements, ICOS has high visibility in the global scientific community through publications, citations and social media presence. As a sponsor or vendor, you can catch this hard-to-reach audience.

The ICOS Science Conference: gathering the best European greenhouse gas researchers

The ICOS Science Conference 2024 features top research on ecosystems, oceans and the atmosphere, covering ground-based, remote sensing, and modelling observation techniques.

The 2024 edition of the ICOS Science Conference is bound to attract an audience of over 400 participants, both online and on-site, making it one of the most significant gatherings dedicated to climate science.

ICOS Science Conference is a truly hybrid event. In that spirit, we offer virtual vendor booths built directly into the conference platform. These booths allow you to reach the entire audience of the conference.

Your brand at the heart of the ICOS Science Conference 2024

In 2024, the ICOS Science Conference will take place in the Palais des Congrès in Versailles, France. The vendors' exhibition will take place in the Mazarin room, a central hub connecting all spaces visited by the conference's attendees. Featuring an oval design that enhances exhibitors' visibility, the Mazarin room is the go-to passage for all attendees on their way to the sessions.

This year, we have set up three booth categories - Bronze, Silver and Gold - to give you a comprehensive range of options for showcasing your brand.

You also can become the sponsor of the Icebreaker and coffee breaks to bring your brand closer to your audience.
